Packed the Stores Yesterday—
Florists Smile Over Improved Conditions—Flowers Are Higher and People Pay More Cheerfully.

Probably the heaviest shopping of the season was done yesterday, and the managers of the different stores are of the opinion that today's business, even though it is the last day that people will have a chance to buy, will not go any heavier.

The average Christmas shopper has a horror of having to buy his presents in a hurry. It is so much nicer to look over the whole stock of pretty offerings and then to choose from them all a suitable present. Imbued with that idea, large numbers went yesterday to the stores, thinking that the biggest crush would not occur until today. Elbowed about by others on the same errand, pushed this way and then that they have almost wished that they had a dozen newsboys and W. C. Cot-

Cedar City, Dec. 2:—About 100 people attended, the Democratic meeting held here last night to take action on the Roberts case. A notable feature of the meeting was that Republicans as well as Democrats took part in the discussion, and all were unanimous in entering their protest against the arbitrary proceedings against our representative. The resolution, introduced by James Ollorton, were as follows:

Whereas, Hon. B. H. Roberts of Utah has been duly elected a representative to Histories. The control of the state of Histories, and qualified voters of the State of Histories, and the united States, and "Whereas, Said B. H. Roberts has been denied the right to take his seat in the house of representatives to which he was duly elected, by being refused the right to take the outh of onlice, which he was ready and willing to de, having his certificate of election in proper form, which is prima facte evidence of his right to as sent in congress therefore, be it.
